1. Introduction

Text of the article. Times New Roman, font size = 10, interval = 1,1.

The article should have sections Introduction (Motivation, State of the art, Objective and Approach (including structure of the article)) ..., Case study, Discussion; Conclusion (including future research directions).

1.1. Motivation

To which area of science (production) include studies referred to in Article;

Justification of the relevance of the problem to be solved by the author.

Formulation of the problem in general and in relation to important scientific and practical tasks.

This section should provide an analysis of research and publications in which other scholars have worked on the problem, highlighting the previously unresolved parts of the general problem to which your article is devoted.

The purpose and objectives of the study should be interrelated and should cover the theme stated in the paper title. Research objectives should be numbered.

1.2. State of the art

1.3. Objectives and tasks

To achieve the goal, within the framework of this publication it is necessary to solve the following tasks:

2. Materials and methods of research

First, you must provide a description of the materials and reagents used in the work, indicating the manufacturer and the country of production. Research methods should be structured according to the objectives of the research. Research methods should be formulated so that the above research description can be reproduced.

$$W = \sum_{j=1}^{M} \sum_{k=1}^{n_{j}} w_{jk} x_{jk},$$

$$T = \sum_{j=1}^{M} \sum_{k=1}^{n_{j}} t_{jk} x_{jk},$$

$$R = \sum_{j=1}^{M} \sum_{k=1}^{n_{j}} r_{jk} x_{jk},$$

where  $w_{jk}$ ,  $t_{jk}$ ,  $r_{jk}$  – costs, time and risks associated with measures regarding removal (neutralization) of the k-th vulnerabilities manifestation with emergence of the j-th threat.

3. Results and Discussion

This article part should be structured according to the tasks set. This section does not allow a mere statement of research results without detailed explanation and comparison with similar works.

4. Conclusions

The conclusions should be structured according to the tasks set. The conclusions should not contain general information but reflect the results of the research and the prospects for further research in this direction.

Contribution of authors (if there are two or more authors). The contribution of each co-author should be described separately in terms of the content of the article.

It can relate to: review and analysis of references, formulation (groundation) of the purpose and tasks of research, development of conceptual provisions and methodology of research, development of mathematical models and analysis of research results; development of methods; selection and application of software and hardware tools for modeling and presentation of results; formulation of conclusions.

Example,
